

Mussolini-Hitler Meet Today for 2nd Time. Europe Awaits Result

Social Activities Amid Flamboyant Setting of Bunting, Banners, Troops and Bands—May Settle Europe's Future.

DUCE GETS "HEILS"

Observer Says Mussolini Got What Hitler Didn't in Italy: Cheers of Populace.

By MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER

Munich, Germany, Sept. 25 (AP).—Benito Mussolini and Adolf Hitler met today for the second time in their spectacular careers and Europe tensely awaited the result of their rendezvous.

The first few hours of the visit of the Italian premier to the German chancery here where Hitler started his rise to power was taken up with a round of social activities in a flamboyant setting of bunting and banners, troops and bands, cheers and parades.

The serious "brass tacks" conversations of these two men who head the greatest Fascist states of Europe either were sandwiched into the nine-hour program in Munich or were put off until later.

Whenever they come, the results of these talks promised to be of deep concern to all of Europe, if not actually factors in shaping the future.

For consideration there were the troubled Mediterranean situation, with France and Britain seeking Italian cooperation toward a control of piracy stemming from Spain's civil war; Italian and German intervention in that war—whether it should continue, be curbed or halted; rivalries in middle Europe; and Vatican attempts to terminate opposition to Catholicism in Germany.

Today's welcome to Mr. Duce was markedly different than that tendered to Hitler in 1934 when he went to Venice. Then Hitler stopped like an ordinary tourist in a hotel; today Mussolini stopped in a palace.

"Heils" for Duce

Munich's first "heils" were for the visitor whereas Hitler had shouted her loudest "Vivas" not for Hitler but for Mussolini.

This holiday-making city cheered loud and long and there was all the pomp of a militaristic state to salute Mussolini.

After his and Hitler's cordial but almost matter-of-fact greeting in Munich station the two statesmen reviewed German soldiers and labor troops while a stormtroop band, its big black bass drum painted with a white death's head and crossbones, played Italian and German anthems.

Fifteen minutes before a gun battery boomed the signal Mr. Duce's special train had arrived. Hitler made a last minute inspection of the decorations at the station square to make sure that everything was in readiness.

Mussolini arrived at 10:05 a. m. (4:05 a. m., E. S. T.). Twenty-five thousand German soldiers and work troops were lined up in front of the station and held back a throng estimated at 100,000 persons while Hitler and 16 of his highest officials went inside to meet Mr. Duce.

Formal Welcome

This was followed by a formal welcome to Munich delivered in the huge square outside the station.

There was a brief exchange of greetings between Mr. Duce and the Nazi hierarchy that accompanied him, including Baron Konstantin Von Neurath, foreign minister; Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, head of the Nazi foreign political division; and Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, propaganda minister.

The review over, the two stepped into the trolley of an open, low automobile, Mussolini on Hitler's right, and they drove slowly through the arch of triumph while cheers rolled from the crowd around the station square.

Thus they started their trip at the head of an automobile parade to Mussolini's temporary Munich residence, the Prince Karl Palace.

Hitler had approved a schedule for the entertainment of Mr. Duce on the nine-hour stop in Munich before they continue to Mecklenburg to witness secret German army maneuvers.

This included a visit to Hitler in the German Fuehrer's apartments, the laying of a wreath at the Nazi honor temple, the review of a parade and a visit by the two to an artist's exposition, there to drink tea with German artists.

A departure for Mecklenburg at 6:50 p. m. (12:50 p. m., E. S. T.) closed the schedule of activities in Munich.

ROOSEVELT TALKS AT CHEYENNE

President Roosevelt, visiting Cheyenne, Wyo., the home state of his court plan critic, Sen. J. C. O'Mahoney, talked to a large crowd from the train platform. The Chief Executive said that he was going to continue in his second term the way he had in his first, trying to do the "most good for the greatest number." Politicians Watch For Disclosure of Jim Farley's Plans

By NATHAN ROBERTSON

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP).—Politicians—particularly those who think President Roosevelt may seek a third term—are watching closely for official word on Postmaster General Farley's future plans.

Some of them would regard his retirement from the cabinet, even though he retained the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee, as a tip-off that the Chief Executive had made up his mind not to run again despite any amount of possible urging.

If Mr. Roosevelt has any third term ideas, these men argue, he would not permit withdrawal from Washington of the man who directed his political campaigns so successfully through two Democratic national conventions and two presidential elections.

Farley is understood to have agreed to become president of the Pierce Arrow Motor Corporation. He has delayed accepting the post, it is reported, until preparation of an SEC registration statement for a new Pierce Arrow stock issue.

In his present positions, as postmaster general and party leader, he has served the President in three major ways—as political adviser and organizer, as a cabinet member, and as "whipping boy."

Would Curtail Activities

Even if he kept the national committee post, his return to private business undoubtedly would curtail his political activities. As a business executive, he would not have much time to devote to Democratic organization work.

No other cabinet officer has approached Farley's record for travel and speech-making. In campaigns and out, he has gone back and forth across the nation lauding the Roosevelt administration and replying to criticisms of its policies.

Nor has he ignored the post office department. Friends say he is proud of its record. In answer to criticism, Farley has declared that for the first time in years the department is on a business basis and that it operates with surpluses instead of deficits.

As "whipping boy," Farley has frequently jumped forward to assume responsibility for administration policies that met attack. In such instances he has taken his "beating" with a smile and without resentment.

His personal political career also might be affected by retirement from the cabinet. He has been mentioned frequently as a candidate for governor of New York to succeed Herbert H. Lehman.

Benedictine 1937 Graduation Held At K. H. S., Friday

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

Aboard Roosevelt train enroute to Seattle, Sept. 25 (AP).—President Roosevelt began a week-end of sightseeing in Yellowstone National Park today after six rear platform talks in Wyoming where he promised less federal spending and struck at those who give only "lip service" to government objectives.

Instead of reviving the Supreme Court issue as many had forecast he might do—at least indirectly—he talked thus far of better times, fewer people on relief, broad administration aims, clerical pay, and other less controversial subjects.

He also told an inquirer at one stop that he hoped the United States would stay out of war.

The presence of Senator O'Mahoney, foe of the defeated Supreme Court enlargement plan, in the welcoming group at Cheyenne and on the President's train across the state surprised some observers, but O'Mahoney considered the "normal" thing to do. He told inquiring newsmen he had no enmity toward Mr. Roosevelt and the latter, in his half dozen talks, gave no outward indication of his feelings in that respect.

East Meets West

The Chief Executive and Mrs. Roosevelt expected to meet at the Park's Mammoth Springs Hotel during the day Mr. and Mrs. John Boettiger, son-in-law and daughter, and the latter's two children, Eleanor and Curtis Dall. They will remain with the party until the train reaches Seattle, their home, Tuesday night.

After leaving Casper, Wyo., the special rolled through the winter night toward Laurel and Livingston, Mont., and Gardiner, Mont., northern entrance to the nation's scenic wonderland. Flurries of snow were in the air and the entire party changed to heavier clothing.

At Casper the President told a railroad station audience that he was convinced the "rank and file of the people of this country approve the objectives of their government."

"They approve and support those who work for objectives by proposing methods to obtain the objectives, even though those methods be changed by consultation and conference," he said.

"But they do not become very enthusiastic about those who give only lip service to the objectives and do nothing towards attaining them."

Tells of New Yorker

He told of a man he knew once in upstate New York who "gave lip service in public, but fought like a champion in private" and added: "I am glad to say that in this country that type of person has less influence in government today than ever before in our history."

We can get along in local and state and the federal government without the services of those who are good citizens only so long as it does not cost their pocketbooks anything to be good citizens."

Constitutional democracy, he said at another point, was succeeding in this country "despite the obstacles thrown in its way by a few people who, in their hearts, do not want to see democracy work. You and I, my friends, are making it work and we are going to keep on making it work."

New York, Sept. 25 (AP).—A strike of 5,000 retail kosher meat shops in the metropolitan area has been set for next Friday by the Federation of Kosher Butchers in protest against prices demanded by wholesale packers. 7 Ski Trails Approved For Catskill Region on State Land; CCC to Aid Commissioner Osborne Approves New Trails and Says CCC will Begin Construction as Soon as Possible.

SOME READY SOON

Plans Made to Have Number of Trails Ready for Use This Year.

Albany, Sept. 24.—Conservation Commissioner Lithgow Osborne announced today that he had given his approval to the immediate construction of seven ski trails in the Catskill region and two trails in the Adirondacks. He held in abeyance approval of the construction of a trail at Whale's Tail Notch in the McIntyre Mountain system and indefinitely postponed decision upon another proposed trail on Wright's Peak, also in the McIntyre system.

Work upon these trail systems will begin as soon as arrangements can be made with nearby CCC camps. The fact that this state is losing 15 CCC camps on October 1 will delay construction and probably will cause postponement of work on a number of the approved trails until next year. However, as many as possible will be constructed before the snow dies.

Approval was given by the commissioner to the nine trails following a public hearing yesterday in the State Office Building, attended by more than 100 persons interested in promoting the sport of skiing as well as those anxious to protect the wilderness character of the Forest Preserve.

Article 7, Section 7 of the constitution provides that the preserve be maintained forever as wild forest. The opening of a trail, even a ski trail, mostly over foot trails and old logging roads involves the cutting of some trees. It was held by the attorney general last year, however, that a reasonable amount of this cutting was not in violation of the constitution.

Few Trees To Be Cut

Very small numbers of trees will be cut in connection with the opening of the nine approved trails. However, in the case of the Wright's Peak Trail, approval of which is indefinitely withheld, it would have been necessary to have cut 650 trees, while in the Whale's Tail Notch Trail, decision upon which is being held in abeyance, it would have been necessary to cut 177 trees. This, however, was not the sole consideration in Commissioner Osborne's decision not to approve these trails at this time. He was also guided by opinions expressed at yesterday's hearing to the effect that the two trails in the McIntyre system would be more difficult of access and would not furnish recreation to as large a number as the others.

The total length of the seven trails in the Catskills will be 31 miles and the two trails in the Adirondacks, 10 1/2 miles. At yesterday's hearing, many of these interested particularly in the preservation of the wilderness character of the Forest Preserve expressed the opinion that they favored this recreational development provided the trails were self-maintaining and not too many trees were cut.

As for the skiing enthusiasts, they were heartily in favor of the state constructing trails over state-owned land and their sole objection to the program presented at the hearing was that they had not been given enough time to go over the proposed trails. There was also some talk about the difficult nature of the mountain trails established by the conservation department.

Comparison with the easy ski areas found frequently on private lands.

Non-Competitive

Practically all the state-owned trails are mountain and forest trails with very few slopes and in the Adirondacks are they equipped for racing or jumping. They are for the sportsman who enjoys the outdoors and are not for competitive purposes.

During the past few years, there has been an enormous increase of interest in the sport of skiing and a great many enthusiasts who ordinarily would go beyond the state's borders have been induced to practice their sport in New York State through the efforts of the Bureau of State Forestry.

The State Conservation Department, through its Division of Lands and Forests, has attempted to meet the demand for more extensive skiing areas by a rapid development of these trails throughout the Forest Preserve.

It should be understood that all the trails mentioned above are on state land and are being constructed by the state with the assistance of labor provided by the CCC camps, and these trails are not to be confused with the hundreds of miles of trails, skiing areas and ski jumps maintained by private owners, municipalities and smaller communities.

Japanese Bombers Spread Desolation Over Chinese Areas

By The Associated Press

Shanghai, Sept. 25.—Flocks of Japanese warplanes scattered new devastation and terror today in the most densely populated areas of Central and South China.

Shanghai, Nanking, Canton and the Wuhan cities, Hankow, Wuchang and HanYang the great centers that Japan's air raiders have punished most severely, all were visited. Hundreds of non-combatant Chinese died. The bombers left widespread devastation.

A fleet of 25 Japanese bombers, rising from military airbases in Manchuria, a bright dawn, realized on what Nanking's aerial police were reporting as a rainy day, a sense from the city's capital.

In flying water, at three, Japanese bombers roared over Shanghai's defense lines, blacking concrete pill boxes and driving Chinese troops below, but without telling effect.

Air raiders returned to the Wuhan cities, Central China's commercial and industrial "city," 450 miles up the Yangtze from Shanghai, before daybreak. Chinese officials raised yesterday's estimate of non-combatant deaths, between 200 and 500, to almost 1,000.

Canton suffered several small air raids during the night and again in daylight today. Most of the bombs fell near the Hankow Railroad station, bombing of a line used by many foreign refugees from the Wuhan cities.

The night raid on the Wuhan cities, centered mostly in Hankow, compressed appalling devastation within a ten-minute ball of explosives.

Bombs wrecked the city's power supply, compelling over-worked doctors to operate in candlelight on unending streams of wounded.

Three bombs, falling close together, devastated a ten-acre civilian area of 200 by 150 feet where streets are only six feet wide. At least 50 flame dwellings crumpled like paper under the bombardment and were consumed by flames.

The heaviest casualties were in the Wuchingmiao slum district, where stretcher-bearers seemed to bring out more dead and wounded children than adults. One bomb narrowly missed the Wesleyan Mission Hospital.

In one corner of the Wuchingmiao district, 120 mangled Chinese corpses were carried past. The Associated Press correspondent within a period of 10 minutes. Anxious men, women and children ran through the streets screaming in terror, their cries mingled with the groans of the wounded.

Bodies lay in the alley-like streets, the dead and wounded inextricably mixed, until rescue corps were organized.

In one district of HanYang a single Japanese bomb killed 60 Chinese outright.

A second girl, Dorothy Woodward, 20, who escaped from the institution at the same time as the Gardner girl, was not located.

Board Will Close Contract, if Full Covenant Deed Can be Obtained — Minor Matters Agreed Upon.

STADIUM DEAL

President Schmid Closes Deal for Fair Grounds Friday at $10,000; $500 Paid Down.

After several weeks of negotiations, at first conducted by the members of the Building Committee and later by Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin, an agreement was finally reached Friday night between the Board of Education and the C. B. O'Reilly Corp. for the purchase of the 6 1/2 acre tract of land between O'Reilly street and Andrew street for a site upon which will be erected the new Central School.

The agreed price for the land was $25,000 and a contract was signed Friday evening during the monthly meeting of the board when President Alfred Schmid and an official of the O'Reilly corporation attached their signatures to the contract of sale.

When it was first determined to erect a Central school building the O'Reilly property at the rear of the present high school was selected as the proper location after the Building Committee had investigated other locations.

First Demands

At first the O'Reilly Corp. demanded 12 cents per square foot for the land. This placed a value of about $23,000 on the required site. The board made an offer of $15,000 and held several meetings at which the purchase price was discussed. Later the O'Reilly Corp., represented by A. J. Cogan, entered into negotiations with Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin. And these negotiations have been going on for some time.

A few days ago the O'Reilly Corp. transferred to the Benedictine Sisters a tract of land about half the size required for the school and the price was $14,500 for similarly located property. This was a factor which had to be considered by the board in its purchase of the land.

In condemnation proceedings this recent sale of similar land in the locality would have been a very important determining factor in the figure which any corporation might allow and when the corporation finally agreed to sell the required tract for $25,000 the board, by a unanimous vote of the members present, accepted the offer which had been suggested by Mr. Cashin as a possible offer from the board.

Search of Title

The next step is to have title searched and if a full covenant deed can be given the board the contract will be closed and the property purchased. Under the contract a $500 check was given last evening as a down payment consideration and the terms of the contract call for the balance of $24,500 to be paid on or before October 15, 1937, upon delivery of the deed.

At the opening of the meeting Friday evening Corporation Counsel Cashin made a report on negotiations which he had conducted with Mr. Cook and said that the O'Reilly Corp. has agreed to accept $25,000 for the parcel provided some minor concessions were agreed to.

Mr. Cashin said that one of the concessions was that certain irregular lines along Andrew street property lines be straightened. This was a minor matter. It was also asked that certain restrictions which the board had incorporated in the deed to the property where the present high school stands and pertaining to the vacant lot at the corner of Broadway and O'Reilly street be removed. In the agreement were provisions that the lot could not be sold by the O'Reilly Corp. for a lively stable, garage, brewery, pool room, billiard parlor or bowling alley and saloon. Under the law a saloon could not be erected on the site and many of the other restrictions were obsolete. There was also a provision in the agreement that the board had 20 days to exercise an option to purchase the lot in the event a sale was about to be made. A limit of 10 days was asked.

Mr. Cashin stated that the agreement could be modified to restrict pool room, billiard parlor, bowling alley or any game of chance on the premises. To this the board agreed and also to a reduction of a 10-day option.

With these matters disposed of the board authorized the purchase and Mr. Cashin met with the members of the corporation and the signatories were secured to the contract and returned immediately to the board. The board also authorized the expenditures of a

If Your Teeth Don't Sparkle, Try This Plan

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Feature Service Writer

Perhaps you haven't the kind of teeth that flash so brightly in the toothpaste ads. You blame it on your dentist; on Mother Nature, who gave you imperfect eyeteeth; or on your parents, who didn't bring you up right. But it's never too late to try for clean, healthy teeth, even if they're not perfectly shaped. Here's one way it can be done:

1. If toothpaste doesn't work on your teeth, try tooth powder. The method simply is to shake a little in your hand, dip a moistened tooth brush in it, and go to work.

2. Always brush teeth up and down. Down strokes on the upper teeth, in order to catch remnants of food that may be lodged between them. Up strokes on the lower teeth. And don't forget the neglected wisdom teeth hiding way back in your mouth.

3. Gargling is not only a cold preventative—and is there any season of the year when colds aren't traveling around?—but it's also a final cleansing touch. Use any antiseptic, preferably in warm water, and rinse the mouth thoroughly.

INFLUENCE—The Paris exposition, the Directorate period, the evening gowns: (3) big ostrich-trimmed hats and fitted waists; (4) scroll applique trimmings; (5) Louis XIV at Versailles have all left their stamp on the new fall clothes.

You will see their influence in: (1) fireworks sequins, embroidery; (2) slender, high-waisted

ESSENCE—This is a "dressed up" season. Smooth, supple fabrics, drapery, embroideries of gold thread on sparkling sequins, intricate scroll applique and splashes of color on black—all combine to give an effect of richness.

COLOR—Black gets most of the fashion votes. (Accent yours with some bright touch of color.) Duck-green (bluish), wine, gray and brown are also good for your fall wardrobe.

FABRICS—Materials are smooth and rich. Duvetyne, broadcloths, jerseys, new dull silk crepes and supple velvets woven to resist crushing are among the smartest. LINE—The new profile is slim, straight and called by a variety of names, such as pencil and lamp-post. Skirts are short—12 to 15 inches from the ground. (Guard against a too-tight hipline and skirt and a too-short hemline. Both can make you look heavier and older than you are by revealing lines which are no longer youthful.)

SPOTLIGHT—Keep your eye on the midriff. That's where the focus falls. There is no fixed waistline this year. It has been

Cheer Up That Dark Room With Out-Of-Sight Lights

DRAMATIC LIGHTING
Judicious use of concealed lighting transforms a wall recess into a cheerful corner.

By MARY DAVIS GILLIES
Prepared By McCall Magazine for The Freeman

Next year, or the year after, we'll be changing to concealed and built-in lighting. We'll be able to do anything we like with electricity—cast a soft glow throughout a room, highlight a picture or table, or have the illusion of sunlight through curtains.

How clever and useful and decorative the new lighting is has been proved in the kitchen. The long slender bulbs of luminescent lights under cabinets have given us glareless working light. The same kind of lamps are just right as side columns for bathroom and dressing table mirrors.

A soft, cheerful daylight glow comes from electric bulbs put in troughs at the sides or tops of windows. Lights concealed behind the ceiling cornice may have several degrees of brightness, worked by a multiple switch.

For unusual and dramatic decoration, there is nothing like concealed light. An arched niche or a glass console table, lighted from below will transform a small hallway. Side lights concealed in cabinets illuminate beautiful china; a glass panel in the top of a bookcase lights up plants or an aquarium.

Picture lighting has been changed by the magic of focused beams. A bulb in a vase lights an over-mantel painting; built in at the side of the fireplace, it may be focused on the side wall.

To Satisfy That Outdoor Appetite Let Camp Cooking Begin At Home

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
AP Feature Service Writer

The fragrant odor of campfire cooking will be a familiar trail this autumn. Wherever there are outdoor fireplaces, grills or ovens, groups will gather in a gay spirit of camaraderie.

A little preparation at home, however, will do a lot to lighten campfire chores.

Chowders, cooked at home, may be reheated in kettles that have tight-fitting lids. (Clam, corn or vegetable chowders are great favorites with outdoor enthusiasts.) Escalloped and baked foods are comparatively easy to pack and carry. And steaks of all kinds and descriptions may be cooked in frying pans, on sticks held over coals or on wire grills.

Cook Over Coals

Hard wood coals make the best fire for cooking. They may be replenished from another fire started for just that purpose.

Savory Standbys

There's nothing quite so good as sizzling fried potatoes. Slice cold boiled potatoes into a generous-sized bowl. Season well with chopped onion and parsley, salt, pepper and celery salt. Top with the fat to be used in cooking them. Cover carefully, and place the bowl in the largest frying pan you have in which to fry them later. Let one member of the party prepare them, as his share of work.

Fried ham or bacon and eggs will nearly always assuage appetites whetted by the brisk autumn air. They're also easy to carry and can be cooked in a hurry.

Good old standby omelets may be varied by adding a little chili sauce, chopped celery, onions and green peppers.

Griddle Cake Surprises

Griddle cakes may be served with fried ham or bacon as the main course of any hearty meal. They may be made into "surprises" by adding half a cup of cooked corn, rice, bacon or ham to the batter.

"Kabob" combinations ("kabob" is short for "shishkabob"—an Armenian food cooked on skewers) may be made in dozens of different ways.

Try alternating seasoned ham and beef squares with any of the following, roasted on skewers: Tomatoes and sweet pickles; cheese and onions; liver and bacon; mushrooms and meat; frankfurters, steaks and tomatoes; cheese and dill pickles.

Coffee A Necessity
And don't forget the coffee—no other coffee compares with

HOT OFF THE GRIDDLE

Butter for griddle cakes may be mixed in short order for breakfast cooked out-of-doors. The cakes should be turned just once, so that both sides are nicely browned. They may be served with butter and maple syrup.

That made over an outdoor fire. Measure a tablespoonful of coffee for each cup to be served. Add an egg and a little cold water. When the combination is mixed, minutes—or until it is the desired half-fill a white cloth sack. (Old strength.) Then add two tablespoons of sugar or salt bars are excellent spoons of cold water and let the for the purpose. Fasten the top of the sack and drop the sack into it "settles."

Your librarian isn't trying to make money when she charges you two cents a day for each day you keep your book overtime.

She just wants that book to stay in circulation. And the most effective way to remind you is to pinch where it hurts—in the pocketbook.

Harry M. Lydenberg, head of the New York Public Library, has several hints for the library user.

Look Carefully

Lots of public library readers don't use their heads, he says. When a book isn't exactly where they think it ought to be, they don't bother to look further, it may be indexed in a dozen different ways.

It's the doubting reader who accomplishes things, Mr. Lydenberg says. If he (or she) doesn't find what he's looking for, he doesn't give up—and charge it all to the "inefficiency" of the library.

There are, for instance, those who think it's a bright idea to "cache" books—hide them so nobody except themselves will know where they are.

That doesn't do anybody any good, says Mr. Lydenberg. The person who hides the book won't find it where he left it because the chances are that in "reading the shelves," a constant check-up procedure followed by nearly all librarians, the book will be discovered and returned to its normal place.

Know What You Want

The best way to get the most out of the library's facilities is to be sure you know what you want. Have the exact title of the book and be able to spell the author's name correctly.

Go to the shelves. If you're accustomed to doing that in your local library, if you can't find what you want, go to the catalog.

As a last resort take your troubles to the librarian. She may

Honor Girl Has High Annual Open Program Desires For Future Of Musical Society

MISS JEAN ELWYN

Miss Jean Elwyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Elwyn of Woodstock, Kingston High School's honor graduate, will leave on Sunday to enter her freshman year at Smith College.

Miss Elwyn was valedictorian of her class and has accepted a $500 tuition scholarship to study at Smith College. Rarely does a college offer a full tuition scholarship. At the graduating exercises in June, Miss Elwyn was also the recipient of seven other prizes.

This honor student reaches out for her higher education with a hand that holds aloft a torch of high aspirations, dreams and ambitions for the future. The four years at Smith will be spent in majoring in history, for it is with the knowledge of this subject that Miss Elwyn hopes to climb ladder. Hers is not to teach and pass on to others the knowledge gained, but to do research work, perhaps a little dabbling in politics, "but not too much," for a while to be an historical commentator and later to write biographies. Such are the ambitions of this native daughter.

When asked why she had chosen Smith College, Miss Elwyn replied, "first, of course, because of the scholarship advantages offered me, and second, because it is non-co-educational." Miss Elwyn declined two other scholarships, the New York state scholarship and one to Russell Sage College in Troy.

While in high school, the name of Jean Elwyn was a password in dramatic circles, especially so in her senior year. Miss Elwyn hopes to be able to find an outlet for her dramatic talents in the Smith College dramatic and debating clubs.

She will have a roommate who at present is a stranger, to keep her company in her room in Washburn Hall.

Miss Elwyn has one brother, Hugh Elwyn, who also is a graduate of Kingston High School, now a student at Albany Law School and a graduate of Union College, Schenectady. Honors seem to be evenly divided in the family, for Mr. Elwyn is a Phi Beta Kappa.

Miss Elwyn has no particular hobbies, although she has many diversified interests.

sum not to exceed $500 as expenses of the transfer.

With the modification of the Andrew street line as requested by the owners of the plot the board gave title to 6.4 acres of land with access to both O'Reilly and Andrew streets.

Fair Grounds Contract

President, Alfred Schmid also announced that he had closed negotiations Friday with the owners of the Kingston Fair Grounds for the purchase of the property for use as a municipal stadium. The price was $10,000. He said $500 had been paid down on the contract. On the lot will be erected a stadium for school and public use. The construction is scheduled as a WPA project.

Final approval of the plans for the central school has not been received from the State Department yet. It had been expected the final approval would be received this week but there has been a slight delay. This final and formal approval is expected within the next few days. The board will then meet and solicit bids for the construction.

Mr. Schmid stated that no time could be lost if the building was to be ready September 1, 1938.

Resolution Heard

Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin also read for approval and adoption a resolution, as suggested by the Common Council, to authorize a $250,000 bond issue to finance the school construction and expansion plan. The resolution was adopted and calls for the sale of $250,000 of bonds to finance the central school, vocational school and for the purchase of the Fair Grounds.

The cost of all of these projects is not to exceed $375,000. The estimated cost of each item is: Central school $250,000; purchase of land $25,000; Fair grounds $15,000. A total estimated cost of $375,000 but these figures may be lower when bids are finally received.

Under the law at least 5 percent of the amount of a bond issue must be included in the current budget before a bond issue may be offered. This has been done in the 1937 school budget upon which taxes are now being collected is included the sum of $100,000.

With the matter of a site for the school and the financing problem solved the board then entered upon its routine work.

Trustees Hutton and Katz were absent but Trustee Katz attended a meeting a week ago and has expressed his approval of the purchase of the O'Reilly property at the specified sum.

A request of the Co-operative Concert Association for use of the auditorium on October 27, November 10, April 4 and 27 for the annual concert was granted.

Salaries Approved

The salary schedule for September, amounting to $37,163.59, and bills amounting to $20,924.01, was approved.

Trustee Feeney for the Building Committee stated that practically all of the work authorized to be done this season has been completed. Grading at No. 7 and the wall at the high school, a WPA project he said had not been completed. The new lighting for high school stage was about installed. The new floor laid on the stage.

Superintendent Van Ingen reported that the crowded condition at No. 7, had been remedied so far as possible but he said that small rooms were still in use there. In some where fire glass had been installed in windows this summer it was found the light was cut down to some degree. At No. 6 the board had found it necessary to restrict the number of students to a half day. One section of the class reports in the morning and the other half in the afternoon.

Trustee Cragin for the Supplies Committee moved that $400 be appropriated for additional musical instruments. Carried.

Trustee Walter for the Teachers Committee reported the employment of Mrs. Fern Tremper as high school matron as a salary of $75 a month. He said she had been the first on the civil service list.

Permit was granted for use of the high school building on Tuesdays from 4 to 6 and from 7 to 9 for the extension courses which are given by N. Y. T.

Trustee Lane moved that when the board adjourn it do so to meet on October 22. Carried.

Corporation Counsel Cashin thanked the members of the board for their splendid cooperation during the past weeks of negotiations for the purchase of land for the school and their spirit of cooperation throughout the entire matter.

President, Schmid, in turn thanked the corporation counsel for his services and stated that he personally knew that Mr. Cashin had devoted practically a solid week to school work and in bringing the negotiations between the city and the O'Reilly Corporation to a close.

Examination Report

Before adjourning Superintendent Van Ingen gave the following report on the recent school examinations and after President Schmid stated that he expected another special meeting within a week, when the board would be ready to solicit bids, the meeting adjourned.

To the Board of Education: I am presenting for your consideration the results of the closing examinations in June 1937:

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER

New York, Sept. 25 (AP)—At 4 o'clock today the stock market rallied to meet with further resistance. Recoveries running to 2 points appeared shortly after the start, but leaders soon ran into sufficient offerings to halt the comeback and improvement was cancelled in many instances or converted into declines.

All Stocks Broke Sharply on Friday

Although some thought the market has been over-sold, others remained skeptical pending a clearer outlook on business, earnings, dividends and politics. The Far Eastern market was thought to have been a minor influence.

Transfers were around 1,500. Quotations by Parker & McElroy & Co., members, N. Y. Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, New York city, branch office, 282 Wall street.

All Stocks Broke Sharply on Friday

For the third time this month transactions on the New York Stock Exchange passed the two million mark yesterday and with a total of 2,180,000 shares changing hands all stocks broke sharply.

There was heavy selling abroad, with Paris, Amsterdam and London markets lower. Industrial stocks were off 6.60 points on the Dow-Jones average, closing at 147.38; rails dropped 1.53 points to 39.67 and utilities lost 1.01 points to 22.95. Corporate bonds set a new low for the year and governments were weak. Commodities declined, cotton to the lowest levels since 1933, with December futures selling at 8.21 cents and losses of over a bale being registered.

Wheat was weak and rubber set new lows for the season. Corn refining firms are marking time, awaiting the arrival of lower-priced grain in the market.

Corn Refining Products Corp. declared its regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents; forecast poor business for the September quarter, but expected a return to normal profits in the near future.

Freight car loadings of $26,565,141 cars in the week ended September 15 was a new high since 1930; a more than seasonal increase.

Representatives of the nation's leading railroads, meeting in Washington, decided that a horizontal boost in freight rates and a possible increase in passenger fares was the only solution to the carriers' revenue problem.

Application to the ICC for such action will be made as soon as the body has acted upon the pending request for price increases on selected commodities.

An example of the effect of rising rail costs is seen in the statement of Chairman Holden, of Southern Pacific, who stated that while the road's gross business is running 10 to 15 per cent ahead of 1936, net income for 1937 is not expected to be as good as last year.

Barron's business index dropped 2.1 points for the week ended September 18, down to 85.3 per cent of normal.

Steel operations for the week are materially under the previous week.

Earnings of American Brake Shoe & Foundry for first nine months are estimated at around $2,820,000, compared with $1,675,150 year ago.

Central New York Power plans expenditure of $19,590,000 for new construction before the end of 1939. Is subsidiary of Niagara Hudson.

It is stated that unless existing trade regulations are modified the Community Exchange Administration will ask Congress to give it power to fix limits on daily price fluctuations on future contract markets.

The September corn "squeeze" at Chicago is cited as showing the need for such action.

Dome Mines declared a dividend of $1 and will hereafter make quarterly payments as profits permit.

As a result of the sharp decline in the stock market in recent weeks it is stated that sales of new stock issues aggregating more than $450,000,000 have been postponed or delayed.

Comparatively high tax levies and an adjustment of the capitalistic system to a basis of "moderate" but more stable earnings is the picture of the near future as painted by Secretary of Commerce Roper in an address at French Lick, Ind., last night.

A market commentator says that "one of the most recent unfavorable commentaries on the picture of the near future as painted by Secretary of Commerce Roper in an address at French Lick, Ind., last night."

Claim That School Meeting Was Not Legally Called

A goodly number of voters of School District No. 4 of the town of Hurley came out last night for the meeting called to act upon a proposition to raise additional money for the erection of a new school house, to be located in the village of Hurley.

Trustee Henry Dunbar called the meeting to order, but before any business could be transacted the point was raised that the meeting had not been legally called, it being claimed that notices had not been posted the required number of days. A motion to adjourn was carried.

It is understood that a second meeting will be called in the near future. The district has already voted $30,000 for building purposes and the meeting called for Friday night was to act upon a proposition to authorize an additional $10,000.

Maj Escape Prosecution
Toledo, O., Sept. 25 (AP)—Friends of dark-haired Robert Snyder believed today the 12-year-old boy may escape prosecution despite firing five shots and seriously wounding his elderly principal, Miss June Mages. Both the 59-year-old woman and the boy were recovering from wounds which police believed were inflicted over the boy's desire to demonstrate to a girl schoolmate "how tough he could be." Lieut. Ralph Murphy said police had dropped the investigation and that it now rested with juvenile authorities. They will prosecute only if the principal urges it, he said.

Read It Or Not

Two out of every three families in the United States own an automobile, and more than half of the automobiles are owned by families with incomes of $1,500 a year or less.

Highway patrolmen don't delight in arresting motorists, but there is no alternative when they encounter some hell-bent driver who may be on his way to an undertaker but doesn't know it. These patrolmen are cruising highways to make them safer for everybody. Help them all you can by driving sanely and safely.

Friend—I see the government has withdrawn some of the new taxes.

Man—I'm so glad—there were too many of those vehicles on the streets.

There is no fool like an old fool, except a young one filled with alcohol and driving a car.

A noted highway engineer says that eventually this country will be a gigantic system of super-highways which will enable the nation to operate four times the number of automobiles now in use. The hearty cheering you hear just to the right comes from the undertakers.

We heard a typical story recently of a local young man who spent the evening driving around the streets of Newburgh and then came home at 75 miles per hour. All underakers should note.

When a pretty girl is concerned the automobile honk will open the front door of the family cottage quicker than any skeleton key.

Mistress—What pretty scallops you have made on the ples, Mandy! How do you do it?

Mandy—Ah, I glad you like dem. Ah just used mah false teeth to make de impresses.

Wishes

Why do you wish for idle hours and all that money buys. When evidence, that it does not bring peace, confronts your eyes?

We all know persons who have wealth and are they satisfied? Or do they search—in vain—for joy, and still feel—inside—for forelaid lands and gay resorts the year around their room?

But wouldn't it be better if they could find bliss at home? I doubt real joy is found in wealth—no—these would be my wishes:

To work—and play—with one I love, and cook—and wash some dishes!

An American film actress was applying for a passport: Clerk—Married? Actress—Occasionally.

Politics is like an air-cushion—there may be nothing in it, but it eases our foibles.

Friend—I just haven't the time for worrying about conditions.

Business Man—What do you mean?

Friend—Well, in the daytime I'm too busy, and at night I'm too sleepy.

Good-will is the one and only asset that competition cannot undersell and destroy.

Frances—Does your husband ever refer to your honeymoon?

Margaret—He often says he wishes he had the money back that he spent on it.

A bachelor may agree that marriage is a cure for love-sickness, but he insists that the remedy is worse than the disease.

Passey—How do you expect to catch any fish when you use an apple for bait? You should use a worm for bait.

Fisherman—The worm's in the apple, mister.

Forest Army Battles Pine Rust To Save Nation's Timberlands

Spokane, Wash. (AP)—Faster than an army of control workers can check it, deadly white pine blister rust is damaging the nation's best commercial timberlands.

At the moment it is attacking the immensely valuable north Rocky Mountain stands.

Although thousands of fighters have been mobilized against it, the department of agriculture reports the blister rust is spreading through Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, California, Colorado and Wyoming, where most of the nation's valuable pine timber is found.

"It is obvious that control measures are falling far behind," says Elers Koch, in charge of control work in the northern Rocky Mountain section. "At best we are going to lose a tremendous amount of white pine—and we may be forced to abandon large areas entirely."

Spores of the rust, cruminate ribicola, move from host plants—wild currants and gooseberries—to healthy trees. Wind carries millions of spores from each diseased plant to all trees within 900 feet.

The disease can be controlled by destroying every host plant in a forest.

It appears to be sort of a cancer, which enters the tree through the needles. It moves into the branches and then to the trunk, where the parasite lives on sap sent up from the roots. A canker appears at the seat of infection. As the disease progresses, the canker bursts, releasing millions of spores.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 25 (AP)—New York state residents are consuming more alcoholic beverages than at any time since the repeal of prohibition.

The State Tax Department deducted today from increased alcoholic beverage tax collections.

Total tax collections for the first eight months of the year were $17,119,556.67 compared with $15,113,116.29 for the same period in 1936.

The largest increase, Graves found, was in wine consumption, sales of still wines mounting 24 per cent and sales of natural sparkling wines rising 23 per cent over the first eight months of last year.

Enrollments are now being made for the CCC camps in October, and youths who desire to attend these camps should register at the ERB office in the City Home. So far about a dozen young men have registered.

A new ruling governing enrollments has just been received here. The new ruling states that "any honorably discharged former CCC enrollee who has been out of the corps for at least six months, and is otherwise eligible for selection, may be re-selected for enrollment for the October camps."

SPECIAL DELIVERY—

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Frederick Snyder, famous lecturer who is well known by Kingston High students, spoke in an assembly yesterday morning.

Mr. Snyder gained the attention of the students at the beginning of his speech by telling a humorous anecdote which clearly expressed his ideas on present conditions. He said a lady asked a pilot if the boat was going up or down the river. The pilot replied the boat was going up and the engineer said the boat was high, so I don't know whether we will go up or down.

The conversation then went on and told about the difficulties in China and Spain. The large number of dialects in those countries make it practically impossible for others in the audience to converse with each other. Epidemics, especially the cholera epidemic in China, can take a large loss of life.

In reading newspapers, he suggested, "Don't look for all the destructive things done by man for the accomplishments of man exceed his blunders." Even while the war is going on scientists in war countries are trying to find cures for diseases.

News not only concerns present conditions but past conditions as well. Second is a finding many interesting things that tell what happened in the past.

Then Mr. Snyder emphasized the fact that everything is for the best. "We can't do anything to control world affairs but we can control our own universe, that is we can control ourselves."

The freshmen went to their first assembly Thursday morning. The first thing on the program was the school song which was followed by the Lord's Prayer led by George Huthorn after which Mr. Dumm read a scripture lesson.

Then Mr. Dumm invited the students to conference with him concerning their vocation. He stressed the importance of vocational guidance.

Mr. Dumm, principal of K. H. S., impressed the students on the necessity of cooperation, regularity, neatness and tidiness. The orchestra played with all of its instruments in both assemblies by Ella Gulla and Alfred Cecilia.

Mr. Kinchella, a former member of the Kingston High faculty and coach of the track team, has been appointed supervisor of the school department at the State Teachers' College.

Accounts for debating start next Monday under the supervision of Mrs. C. C. C.

Girls' hockey teams will be organized in the near future.

The Y. M. C. A. has invited the freshmen to the guests next Wednesday, sophomores on Thursday and juniors and seniors on Friday.

Next week the Seniors will probably make out their registrations.

Fire drills will be started again in the near future. Eight drills will be held before December 1 and four more throughout the term. Principal Dumm plans to have most of them before the cold weather sets in.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES in Germany was this sky swastika formed by planes of the Nazi airforce as a tribute to Fuehrer Adolf Hitler. Glory that once belonged to the nation in days of the famed "flying circus" is slowly being regained with the renaissance in aviation.

ASSOCIATED PRESS PICTURE NEWS

THE HEIL-LAND FLING of troops and tanks across a sham battlefield was staged as Germany paraded her military might before Chancellor Adolf Hitler. Thousands of Nazis massed at Nuremberg to witness the drama of war in huge Zeppelin stadium. Following this the army plunged into a week of maneuvers in northern provinces. Cloaked in deepest secrecy, they were the Reich's greatest since war days.

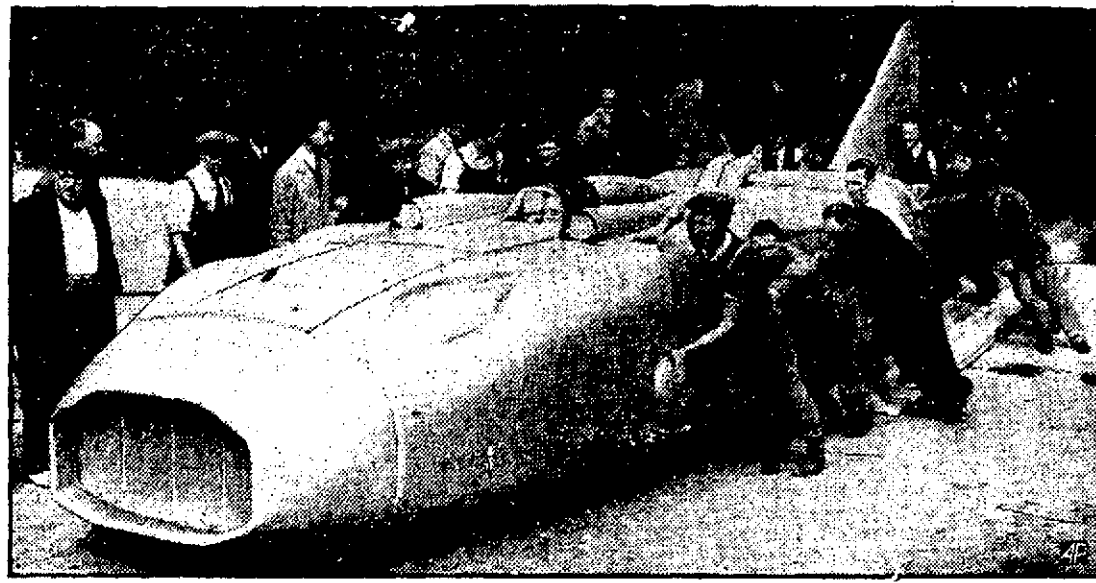

TO BE A SAILOR, HE SAW A TAILOR and had this jacket fashioned, making possible "aerodynamic skiing." The sail-like coat, designed by a Viennese inventor, is of special design, reaching from shoulders to feet. Going before the wind, it acts as sail, driving the skier over the snow at high speed. When used in downhill sliding, the expansive cloth balloons backward, acting as a brake as this sportsman demonstrates when he rounds a curve.

RACQUETTE RHYTHM is her stock in trade. Pretty Kay Stammers, English tennis star, demonstrates unusual grace on the courts in a leaping backhand shot in an exhibition match on the Pacific coast. Miss Stammers is one of the most comely of the feminine net contingent.

A NEW JOB has been given Capt. Walter S. Woodson, former chief of staff of the Asiatic squadron. He is now naval aide to President Roosevelt.

SPEED TO BURN up the salt flats of Utah is incorporated in this fish-like monster of steel, built by Capt. George Eyston for an attack on the automobile record of 301.1 miles an hour held by Sir Malcolm Campbell. Powered by two engines set side by side, the 30-foot land craft's eight wheels are entirely covered. Workers are shown above trundling the machine out of its garage in London.

THERE'S ANOTHER MIX UP in the saddle, riding into motion pictures. This time it's Ruth, 24-year-old daughter of the famous cowboy star, Tom. Able to ride, rope and handle a gun like a veteran of the range, she'll be a real western heroine. Her earnings will go toward more land and cattle for her Arizona ranch.

WHOOPING FOR HUBBY or hogs requires much the same technique, according to a demonstration of the oral arts staged in Chicago by the champions in those respective callings. Best hubby whooper was Mrs. Mary Berger of Macy, Ind. (left), while Frank Funk of Ottawa, Ill., copped the hog calling.

A LINK WITH THE PAST is sought by scientists who have sealed the precipitous walls of towering Shiva Temple, a lofty mesa in Grand Canyon which is believed to have been isolated from changes of the earth since the ice age. First specimens captured in the "Lost Forest" included rabbits, squirrels, chipmunks and mice which will be compared with other specimens to determine if isolation has been complete.

WAR'S MISERY is reflected in the face of this Shanghai mother who, hungry herself, tries to sustain life in her tiny infant.

DRILLMASTERS AT WORK, boring thousands of holes into the bedrock at Grand Coulee Dam in Washington, are awaiting arrival of President Roosevelt on an inspection trip to the project. Also included on the itinerary of the chief executive is a visit to the Columbia river Bonneville Dam. Workers using air-driven jackhammers have drilled 760 miles of holes at Grand Coulee to provide a base for the 25 million ton structure.

HE HAS TO BE SHOWN, Missouri University's Coach Don Faurot finds, before he can tell the twin Orf brothers apart in football practice. That's Robert on the left and Roland on the right—or is it? Both are out for the end positions, which makes Faurot's task tougher and creates a guessing game for the opposition. The brothers' home is St. Louis. For all concerned it's a case of both ends against the middle.

DAKOTA'S DARLING in the American Legion parade at the New York convention was 7-year-old Jean Overton of Fargo, North Dakota. The tiny drum majorette proved a big attraction in the mighty Manhattan spectacle which dwarfed all previous New York parades.

By G. E. BUTTERFIELD

New York, Sept. 25 (AP).—President Roosevelt, now on a western tour, is to be heard in two network broadcasts on Tuesday. Both will come from the state of Oregon. His first half-hour talk, for WEAF-NBC and WABC-CBS at 12:30 p. m., originates from Bonneville Dam, while the other on WJZ-NBC at approximately 4:30, is to be delivered at Timberline Lodge, near Mount Hood.

PREVIEWED

Today
Broadway "Thin Ice" Twentieth Century-Fox, realizing the possibilities of an unusual star, offers Sonia Henie with great speed to her motion picture public in a quick follow up on her last film. This too, is a musical told on ice, a fast and lively and humorous show with Miss Henie being given many opportunities to show her skill on skates against ornate and effective backgrounds.
This production will appeal to everyone for the songs are exceptionally lyrical and well sung, the comedy is excellent and the players all perform with ability.
Tyrona Power, George Givot, Arthur Treacher, Raymond Walburn, Joan Davis, Leah Ray, Melville Cooper and Sig Ruman are featured in the large cast. Mack Gordon and Harry Revel wrote the song hits and Sidney Lan-field directed this second successful effort of Sonia Henie.
Kingston: "Vogues of 1938".
Walter Wanger, creator of pictures that are different in style and content, does himself proud in this combination style showfarc, comedy and musical that also has the added quality of Technicolor at its best. Here is a thoroughly enjoyable two hours of entertainment with Warner Baxter and Joan Bennett starred along with a cast of favorites including Misha Auer, Helen Vinson, Allan Mowbray and Jerome
Cowen. The effective use of color lends zest and attractiveness to this smartly done production and the style show is the most effective thing of its kind ever shown on the screen. Some of the season's silliest and most enjoyable humor is to be found in this one-along with any number of pretty girls and tuneful melodies.

Tomorrow
Broadway: Same.
Kingston: Same.
Orpheum: "You Can't Buy Luck." Horses and horse racing that pounds its way to a typical movie finish is to be seen in the main feature on the Orpheum bill with Onslow Stevens, Vinton
Howard and Helen Mack featured.
The race scenes are well filmed and the show maintains a general air of suspense as crooked work-goes on behind the scenes of the big race. The last chapter of the serial "Clutching Hand" and the first chapter of "SOS Coast Guard" are added features of the program.

Dodgers Waiting to Club Giants Out of Pennant, Yankees Win

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bill Terry has his fingers crossed; "Boiling Boil" Grimes has his tongue in his cheek, and Brooklyn's drooping (but still daffy) Dodgers are ready to give their all to make history repeat for dear old Gowanus.

Anything can happen now. The Giants, sporting a 3½-game edge and seemingly headed for the National League pennant, tangle with the Dodgers in a series opening today. And the Brooklyn, woefully struggling with a nine-game losing streak, would like nothing better than to beat their best-loved enemies right out of the picture.

The fact that the Dodgers fell over and played dead in 12 out of 17 previous starts to the Giants this year doesn't mean a thing. When Bill Terry asked "Are the Dodgers still in this league?" three years ago, he started an all-time feud—and the Brooklyn Beauties will never stop their hating.

There are a lot of new characters in the Brooklyn comedy cast since the Dodgers replied to Terry's 1934 jibe by clubbing the Giants out of the pennant, but the spirit's still the same. Once a Dodger, always a Dodger—as much a part of baseball as "strike three, yer out"—works in reverse, and the present Gowanus Grooners, from Grimes down to the humblest ripe-fruit throwing fan, still nurse the grudge.

There was no change in the National League picture on yesterday's program. The Giants, travelling in from the West, had the day off. The Cubs, 3½ games behind in second place, had a date with the Cardinals, but rain in St. Louis washed it out after an inning of play.

In the American League, meanwhile, the Yankees began the polishing process on their big guns and defenses for the start of the World Series less than two weeks off by topping the Red Sox, 5-1, in their first start as 1937 pennant winners. But they had their hands full doing it. Archie McKain stopped them with one run through the first eight innings. In the ninth, however, Archie got himself in hot water and lost the ball game, when, with the bases loaded and two out, Red Rolfe smashed a booming triple into right field that wrecked the game.

The win was the Yanks' 97th of the year and gave them a lead of 13 games over the second-place Detroit Tigers, who met up with Denny Galehouse one of his few good days of the season and were whipped, 2-1, by the Cleveland Indians. Denny downed the Detroiters with five hits.

In the only other game on the program, the Cincinnati Reds, looking like something out of any class B circuit you can name, made four errors in one inning and were trampled by the Pirates, 8-2. Every other club in the big show had a holiday.

RODEO IN GARDEN Starts October 6

One hundred and twenty-five bucking horses, the most formidable array of bronks that ever bucked in a rodeo, will give cowboys and cowgirls from all parts of the west a real test of their riding skill in the twelfth annual World's Championship Rodeo which opens in Madison Square Garden on October 6. The rodeo will continue through October 24 with matinees on Saturdays, Sundays and Columbus Day.

The famous string of bucking horses which were brought to New York by Colonel W. T. Johnson each fall for the last five years will be included among the bronks, which the top rodeo hands of the country will attempt to ride this year. In addition there will be another collection of buckers brought together by Everett Colburn, who has taken over Colonel Johnson's duties as general manager.

Included in the long series of contests which will be held at every performance are cowboys' saddle bronk riding, cowgirls' bronk riding, steer wrestling, trick and fancy riding, calf roping, mounted basketball, a wild horse race and a wild cow milking contest. More than 200 cowboys and cowgirls have signified their intention of coming to New York to try to win a share of the prize money.

Syracuse Elect New Co-Captains

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 25 (AP)—The Syracuse University football team took the field for scrimmage today under new co-captains, elected last night.

They are Parker Webster, of Bridgeport, Conn., regular tackle for two years, and Walter Rekers, of Scranton, Pa., end for the same period.

With the opening game against Clarkson set for next Friday night, Coach Ossie Soiem put the team through a hard drill and announced that he will not start to taper off until a few days before the opener.

Is This Football?

Monroe, La., Sept. 25 (AP)—Northwest Center, Louisiana State University's junior college, gave its parent institution a real mark to shoot at by trouncing Arkansas, 111 to 0, in the opening game of the football season last night.

Girl of 9 Files Horse Show Paper

Nine-year-old Florence Dorothea Taylor yesterday turned in the first entry for the 1937 National Horse Show to be held in Madison Square Garden November 3 to 10. Eager to be the first competitor in the coming show, she handed in her entry in person at the association's offices at 90 Broad street. Her entry was received by 79-year-old Charles W. Smith, assistant secretary and treasurer, who is beginning his fifty-first year of service with the association.

Trim little Miss Taylor, a mite of a girl, is expected to be the youngest competitor in the 1937 show, while Mr. Smith is the oldest person actively connected with the National Horse Show. Miss Taylor enters the Good Hands Cup, which is sponsored by the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, a poncy class and a team class.

Miss Taylor, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace J. Taylor of Rockville, L. I., has compiled a sensational record for a child of her age, having won more than 100 silver cups and trophies and over 250 ribbons in her brief career. She began riding at six.

BLONDE AND SOLDIER IN REGATTA SPOTLIGHT

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP)—Chief interest in the President's Cup Regatta centered today on a steel-nerved young woman and an Italian cavalry officer.

Mrs. Maude Rutherford, a sun-tanned, wind-burned blonde from Port Washington, N. Y., decided to drive Miss Palm Beach Days in the first heat of the President's Cup race this afternoon. A veteran of motorboat racing, this was the first time she has skippered a gold cup boat.

Among her seven rivals was her husband, Jack Rutherford. His boat, Ma-Ja, won last year. Rutherford sold Ma-Ja and sought victory this year with his Chinky.

Count Theo Rossi of Italy offered the first foreign challenge in the tea-year history of this regatta. Not many months ago he was leading Italian cavalry charges in Ethiopia.

A "Hot" Date.

Dallas, Tex.—"Where are you going?" Policeman Harry Stewart asked an 18-year-old negro carrying a burlesque bag.

"I was going out on a date," the negro replied. Stewart looked in the bag and replied, "You're carrying a stolen fire extinguisher."

Manhattan's Might

Ever since that wintry day early in 1932 when Coach Chick Meehan moved in on the Manhattan college campus with his military shift, toy cannon and bagful of football tricks, the Jaspers' football stock has been steadily rising. Today the kelly-green-clad gridgers appear ready to take their place among the football powers of the east.

Primarily a stay-at-home for the first four years of Meehan's coaching reign, Manhattan will go abroad in search of stiff competition in three games this fall. The Jaspers will travel to Lexington to meet the University of Kentucky eleven, which they defeated, 13-7, in an intercollegiate contest last fall; to Washington to play Georgetown, and to Tulsa, where they will meet the University of Tulsa.

The ambitious program lined up for the young men of Manhattan also includes contests with Michigan State College, Villanova, Detroit, North Carolina State and Texas A. and M. If the Jaspers can get by that array no one will deny they have arrived.

Sparkling Football Bill Little, Farrell Match Strokes This Afternoon

New York, Sept. 25 (AP)—Close to a half million football fans—a big crowd in any man's language—were expected to turn out for a score of the big games today as the curtain rolled up for the grand opening of the 1937 season.

This unusual gathering was attracted by a schedule that would do credit to mid-October, when the "major" attractions ordinarily are just starting. In every section, from the conservative East, native habitat of the gridiron "pushover," to the Pacific coast, there were meetings between outstanding teams. Starting the western season with a bang, California and St. Mary's expected to lure 60,000 customers through the gates; Stanford and Santa Clara looked for 40,000 while the Washington favored over Iowa's Hawkeyes was expected to draw 35,000.

The four-star attraction of the day, however, was the meeting in that notoriously football-mad town of Columbus, Ohio, of Ohio State and Texas Christian. The Buckeyes anticipated a gathering of 75,000. Columbus wasn't far ahead of Minneapolis in football fever, however, for 52,000 were expected to watch mighty Minnesota belt over North Dakota State.

Three other Big Ten outfits, Illinois, Indiana and Purdue, faced stiff opposition in Ohio University, Centre and Butler, respectively, but Wisconsin wasn't looking for trouble from South Dakota State.

In the East, two teams whose football fortunes appear to be rising, Cornell and Penn State, met at Ithaca in the banner game, Dartmouth, facing Bates, was the only other " Ivy League" member to swing into action, but Navy started off with an inter-collegiate contest against William and Mary, and Pittsburgh, leading long-distance, faced Ohio Wesleyan.

The South, off to an early start last week, offered Vanderbilt-Kentucky as its biggest game, with Tulane-Clemson, Duke-Virginia Tech, Louisiana State-Florida, Tennessee-Wake Forest, and North Carolina-South Carolina in the second division.

Although Texas Christian was the only Southeast Conference team to tackle major opposition, Dana Bible's Texas Longhorns, making a fresh bid for power under their new and expensive coach, weren't exactly looking for a breather against Texas Tech.

Last night the Temple Owls gave Coach Pop Warner his 300th victory but it required considerable effort to down Virginia Military, 18-7. Bucknell beat Crisus, 21-0, and Duquesne (rimmed Waynesburg, 33-7, in other eastern games. Georgia Tech, issued a warning on its South-eastern Conference rivals by walling Presbyterian, 59-0, Auburn conquered Birmingham-Southern, 19-0; the Citadel trimmed Wake, 35-0; and Mercer hit the high spots with a 77-0 victory over Statesboro, Ga., Teachers.

In the Midwest Detroit routed Hillsdale, 60-0; St. Louis routed defeated James Milliken, 37-0, and Washburn, another Missouri Valley Conference member, was upset, 12-6, by Emporia, Kans., Teachers. Centenary, a strong southern outfit, trimmed Oklahoma City, 35-0, in an inter-collegiate clash. Drake defeated Washington University, 32-2.

U. C. L. A. defeated Oregon, 28-0, in the first game of the Pacific Coast Conference season, and Denver turned back Colorado Mines, 12-0, in the Rocky Mountain sector.

California Wins

Los Angeles, Sept. 25 (AP)—University of California at Los Angeles defeated Oregon 25 to 13, in the opening game of the Pacific Coast Conference last night before 35,000 spectators.

Colonials vs. Grunenwalds In 3rd Series Game, 2 P. M.

If the rain god does not interfere, the third game in the series between the Colonials and Grunenwald Home Leaders will be on the mound for the Colonials again Sunday, with Benjamin behind the plate.

Joe Brown, the pitcher who scored the two victories over the Home Leaders, will be on the mound for the Colonials again Sunday, with Benjamin behind the plate.

Coach Meehan has an impressive band of veterans on hand. Only one sophomore, Jerry Fall, a hardy though none-too-heavy running guard, has been able to shoulder his way into the first eleven.

The outstanding figure is Captain Jack Daly. Rated the best end in Manhattan's football history, Daly is a fine defensive player and a capable pass receiver. His running mate at the opposite end is Bill Dorsey. Jam Moffit and Pete Shulha, tackles, Joe Kavacs and Fall, guards, and Jack Zuck, center, complete the wealthy line.

The backfield is headed by another senior, Vic Fusia. Fusia is the No. 1 passing and running threat. He was a sensation as a sophomore. Experience he gained in two seasons of varsity play has steadied him down. This year Fusia appears headed for sectional honors. Fusia's mates in the backfield include Al Caruso, quarterback; Ed Krizale, halfback; and Jim Grandt, fullback.

Then, too, Meehan has more than a sprinkling of experienced freshmen and some promising sophomore material.

Little, Farrell Match Strokes This Afternoon

Belmont, Mass., Sept. 25 (AP)—Lawson Little of San Francisco, last remaining favorite in Belmont's $12,000 open tournament, matched strokes against a former open titlist, Johnny Farrell, today as an all-star group of the nation's top flight golfers met in the third round.

Little became the favorite with the defeat of Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Benj. Shute, Boston's two-time P. G. A. champion.

The former amateur king was a 6-1 favorite to capture the $2,000 first money in Tuesday's final. Farrell held a 15-foot putt on the 19th yesterday to knock out Jimmy Demaret of Texas, then came back to whip Tony Manera of Salem, Mass., the medalist, by a decisive 6 and 4 margin in the second round.

Little eliminated Art Straub of Brattle, N. J., 3 and 2, then Emilio Masble of Fitchburg, Mass., 5 and 3.

In the other 36-hole matches of the upper half of the draw, Ralph Guldahl, also of the Windy City, faced Paul Runyan, the White Plains, N. Y., pro, who eliminated the promising Al Broese of Farmington, N. Y., yesterday.

In the lower half of the draw, Clarence Clark of Bloomfield, N. J., met Charles Lacey of Great Neck, L. I.; Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa., encountered Ray Mangrum of Dayton, O., and Dick Metz of Chicago, who knocked out Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, the tourney's last amateur, met Morrie Dore of Royal Oak, Mich., Snead's conqueror.

Warner's Team Brings 300th Win

Philadelphia, Sept. 25 (AP)—After waiting nearly a year, Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, the "Old Fox" of intercollegiate football, today had gained his 300th victory in 43 years of coaching.

Three times last year Warner, now coach at Temple University, was on the verge of reaching this notable milestone, only to see his team lose to Iowa and St. Mary's and be held to a tie by Bucknell.

Last night, however, his 1937 Temple eleven opened the season by topping Virginia Military Institute, 18 to 7, pushing over two touchdowns in the second half after a 17-yard run by Red Echols, V. M. I. guard, gave the southerners a 7 to 6 edge at halftime.

Warner, now 67, who coached at Iowa State, Georgia, Cornell, Carlisle Indians, Pittsburgh and Stanford before coming to Temple in 1932, has no intention of retiring.

"I'm just starting," he said recently. "Maybe when I see my football team score the 499th triumph I might consider tossing up the sponge. If I quit now, what am I going to do in my old age?"

Chicago—Holman Williams, 139, Chicago, stopped Gilitto, R. Ramler, 144, Mexico, (3).

Philadelphia, Sept. 25 (AP)—After waiting nearly a year, Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, the "Old Fox" of intercollegiate football, today had gained his 300th victory in 43 years of coaching.

Territorial Staff Band Here Sunday

On Sunday, September 26, The Salvation Army Territorial Staff Band will present at the St. James Church at 7:30 o'clock, a unique concert. The leader of this band is Lt. Colonel John J. Allan.

Lt. Colonel John J. Allan has been an officer in the Salvation Army for more than 30 years, and now occupies the important position of head of the public relations department, at territorial headquarters in New York city.

Colonel Allan, who was born at Hazleton, Pa., is a son of the regiment, his parents before him being pioneer officers in many parts of the country.

Following in the parental footsteps he himself became a Salvation Army officer and in addition to various positions on headquarters in New York city, spent nine years in charge of the work in the Bowery and lower east side. Then followed three years in charge of the Young People's activities in the metropolitan district. Two years at the head of the Army's New Jersey Division. After which he was placed in charge of the Central Ohio Division, with headquarters at Columbus, where he served for seven and a half years, until March 1932, when he was appointed to his present position.

Colonel Allan is a convincing speaker and never fails to interest his audience.

During the World War Colonel Allan served overseas with the 77th Division. His genius for organizing was soon perceived and he was sent to headquarters to assist in organizing the chaplains and religious work for the expeditionary force. He was appointed senior chaplain of the advance section of the A. E. F. and in addition to being decorated by the French government for bravery, received the highest rank then available to clergymen serving with the American Army's overseas forces, that of major chaplain.

The colonel is one of the best known of Salvation Army musicians—having been the solo cornetist with the national staff band for many years, during which time he toured not only the United States and Canada, but crossed the Atlantic ocean to England.

Lt. Colonel Allan in addition to his other official duties, holds the position of leader of the territorial staff band.

Independent Oil Company Anxious To Locate Here

Representatives of an independent oil refining company, accompanied by a well-known petroleum broker, visited this city Wednesday, to make a survey of Kingston. Previous to coming here a survey was made of Newburgh, but they found it impossible to obtain any waterfront in that city. They are anxious to purchase water and rail front property, on which to erect fuel oil tanks, making this city a distributing center, supplying nearby cities and villages with fuel oil by transport, wholesale and retail, interesting themselves particularly with the retail or family trade.

For many years their total production of fuel oil has been marketed through other channels. Owing to changes in management, new methods have been devised; it has been decided to sell the consumer direct. No gasoline for the present will be handled if a location in this city can be found. Fuel oil alone will be specialized in. It was said on their departure that a return visit will be made in the near future.

Would Name Extra Supervisor

Lake Placid, N. Y., Sept. 25 (CP)—The County Supervisors' Association of New York state considered today a Supreme Court Justice's suggestion of election of a supervisor-at-large in every county for a four-year term as a "cure to county government strife."

State Supreme Court Justice O'Dwyer Brewster suggested that a supervisor-at-large "would constitute a fair and needed check and balance to coordinate the interests of the county with those of the towns."

"This supervisor," he said, "would be the presiding officer of the board, possessed of a limited power of veto and endowed with a considerable power of appointment over other purely administrative branches of local government."

WoodstocktoVote On Central School Saturday, Oct. 2

Woodstock, Sept. 25.—On October 2, Woodstock will vote in the M. E. Hall on the following question: "Shall a central school district be organized as laid out by the commissioner of education and a central school be established therein under the provisions of article 6-B of the education law?"

At a meeting of the Woodstock Citizens' Union, held in the Bears-ville Hall on Thursday evening, it was voted unanimously to endorse this centralization plan.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman, John Adams Kingsbury, who explained that the purpose of the meeting was to hear committee reports relative to centralization, in order to clarify all its aspects before the election.

The first report was given by Mrs. Julia Leecraft, chairman of the education committee. Her report consisted mainly of a series of questions brought up and answered at previous meetings of the committee. Some of the points brought out by her report were, if a bill now in the state legislature passes Woodstock will in time be compelled to centralize; the state will not give permission to build a Union Free School as long as there is a possibility of centralization; the present federal grant is good until next summer but the October 2 vote will give the last opportunity to make use of the grant, as a year must elapse before a repetition of the election; it will not be compulsory to use union labor on the construction of the building; Kingston High School is overcrowded.

Judson Phillips, reporting for the public relations committee, explained the financing of the new school, the yearly budget and the taxation.

His most important explanation was that state aid will make it possible to build the new school without any additional tax burden. The tax rate will remain in the same proportion whether there is centralization or not.

The present school budget for all districts of the town is approximately $35,000, of which about $23,000 is raised by local taxation, the balance furnished by state aid. Under centralization the complete budget is estimated roughly at $50,000, of which the combined districts would be required by law to raise only about $21,000, the state furnishing the balance.

The state education law requires that to receive state aid a community must raise by taxation five mills of the full valuation of its property for educational purposes. The law also requires that the state furnish the balance for any legitimate school budget. Thus if the Woodstock Central School budget should be increased the school district would not be required to increase its taxation, but the state would be required to furnish the increased balance. The burden to the state will not be greatly increased under centralization as the money now being spent in Kingston and Saugerties for Woodstock students will be transferred to the Woodstock central school.

In this discussion which followed Mr. Phillips' report a number of details were explained in answering questions for the floor.

Plans include three buses to conduct children from all districts of the township.

It will now lower the taxes to abolish the smaller schools as the five mills on the valuation must be raised anyway.

The only guarantee given that state aid would continue was that since 1787 state aid has consistently been supplied for education.

At the end of the discussion Judson Phillips moved that the Citizens' Union place itself on record as favoring centralization.

This was amended by Charles Gradwell to include a pledge that all members do all they can to bring about a vote for the school on October 2. This was unanimously adopted.

The president was authorized to appoint a committee of five to study the town's view of selecting a site for the school. The committee was empowered to suggest a location to the Board of Education. The chairman of the committee is Frederick Marsh.

Mrs. George Bellows was also appointed as a member. Others will be announced later.

In the event the majority favors centralization it will be necessary immediately following the election to elect a board of education to conduct the business of the new central district. Also the Board of Education will arrange for a vote on a bond issue sufficient to build a Central Union School.

Pouring The Concrete

They're pouring the concrete on Route 28, the Kingston-West Hurley road, and it won't be long before motorists will be treated to a new stretch of scenery and a four-lane safety-type highway which will cut down the amount of time necessary to travel between here and points up Woodstock way.

It was only about three months ago that the Lane Construction Corp. of Meriden, Conn., began work on this section of highway—the only unimproved thoroughfare leading into Kingston. This route, which included the famous Stony Hollow hill and viaduct and the equally long Fisher's hill where cars of days gone by had to creep up the grade in low gear, has been becoming steadily more of a menace to traffic. With the advent of high-powered automobiles and the huge trailer-trucks, the narrow road and the sharp curves presented quite a problem and many accidents occurred on this stretch of highway.

Eliminates Hill.
The new highway will keep to the north of the Ulster & Delaware Railroad tracks, and the steep Stony Hollow hill and viaduct will no longer echo to the churn of heavy motors as trucks crawl up the hill. Beginning at the Kingston viaduct, the new four-lane highway will follow the old alignment over the Kingston flats to Walker's farm, where a considerable amount of bank has been cut away, a curve eliminated and a short new route taken through the fields to the old toll-gate. In front of this place, which is now only a memory in the minds of older residents, a great deal of fill has been dumped and the road straightened out.

The curve just northwest of the old toll-gate has been cut down, and further up the line, opposite the John Saxe farm, an old house was torn down and the roadbed run directly over the foundation. The old route then is taken all the way to the place where Lane's Hotel formerly stood, at the bottom of the Stony Hollow hill. Here begins a series of curve eliminations until the Jones' place is reached, where the road turns off to the north on an entirely new alignment, which finally comes out at West Hurley, about 300 feet north of the railroad overpass.

Through Quarries.
On this new section, power shovels are now at work digging through abandoned quarries. Blasting is done to loosen the rock ledges, and then the bucket of the shovel shoves its way into the mass and loads dump-trailers hauled by diesel tractors, which in turn haul the debris to locations where fill is needed. When finished, the new route will be through picturesque country almost uninhabited at present.

The pouring of concrete began at the Jones place and continued towards Kingston, laying one strip on the northern side of the route. This first strip is practically completed except for two places where some new fill is being given more time to settle before the concrete is poured. The contractors expect to have two strips completed before snow flies—that is as far as Stony Hollow where the new highway leaves the old route.

When Route 28 is completed, all highways leading into Kingston will be of the improved type, making the Colonial City easily accessible to out-of-towners and adding to the prominence of the "Gateway to the Catskills."
